When President Wilson ordered the Secretary of the Treasury to announce that from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 would be deposited by the government in the banks of the South and the west, with which to "move the crops" if that much were needed, he made a "big hit" with the farmers. Heretofore, under the Republican rule, "Wall Street" would squeal about the shortage of money, and then large sums would be deposited by the federal government in the Wall street banks. They would then lend the money to the western and southern banks, which in turn would lend it for crop moving purposes. Under the Wilson method they get the money without paying tribute to Wall street. We are not apt to hear of any more tightness about moving the large crops of this year.—Concord Times.

While Transylvania county is enjoying one of the best tourist seasons in the history of the county, we should not forget that a few more factories or manufacturing plants would go a long way in tiding business over through the winter months. The Southern railway is treating us handsomely in the way of train service, and is always ready to co-operate in the locating of industrial concerns as well. The reason we do not have more summer visitors is because we do not have more hotel and boarding house accommodations, and the reason we do not have more industrial plants is because we do not go after them. It is time we should join hands and "go to it."—Sylvan Valley News.

PREACHER TOO STRICT;
CONGREGATION QUILTS.

Spartanburg, S. C., August 15.—Because they were required by their pastor to lead too ascetic a life, all but six of the more than 200 members of the Wesleyan Methodist church at Forest City, N. C., a little town on the Clinchfield railroad near here, have left the congregation.

The information comes from Rev. Henry Clay Sisk and W. C. Safford of Spartanburg, who have been conducting a revival service at Forest City. They have organized a new church, with 263 members.

Most of their members came from the Wesleyan Methodist church, withdrawing when the pastor forbade his flock to smoke or chew tobacco, "dip" snuff, wear jewelry or belong to secret orders.

The newly organized church will not subject its members to such strict rules.

SPECIAL LIE STOCK
SERVICE BY THE SOUTHERN.

Southern Has Arranged to Operate Weekly Trains From W. N. C. and East Tennessee. Aug. 13.—To enable growers in western North Carolina, East Tennessee and southwest Virginia to promptly forward live stock to eastern and southern markets and to Virginia feeding grounds the Southern railway has arranged to operate a weekly fast special live stock service such as was operated last year. The service this year, however, is to include points on the Virginia and Southwestern railway between Appalachia, Va., and Bull's Gap, Tenn., and will cover a longer period, beginning on September 4 and continuing until December 31, according to announcement made by Live Stock Agent F. L. Word.

Each Thursday during this period trains will be started at early morning hours from Ooltewah Junction, Harriman Junction, Bristol and Tppalachia. These will be consolidated at Morristown, leaving the New Line yard at 2:45 p. m., arriving Asheville at 9:25 p. m. Trains will also be started from Murphy, N. C., and Rosman, N. C. on the Transylvania division arriving Asheville in the early evening. At Asheville the stock will be made into trains and run special to Spencer, which will be reached before 10 a. m. Friday. Here stock will be fed, watered and rested in the commodious and modern plant which the Southern railway completed only a few months ago. Friday afternoon trains will leave Spencer, giving arrival at Greensboro 7:10 p. m., and Danville 9:55 p. m. Friday, Raleigh 1:55 a. m., Goldsboro 11 a. m., Richmond 7 a. m., Lynchburg 4:40 a. m., Charlottesville 10:50 a. m., Manassas 4 p. m., Potomac yards 5:45 p. m. Saturday Stops will be made at points between Orange and Manassas to deliver feeders and a special train will leave Manassas at 4:30 p. m. to deliver feeders to points on the Manassas and Harrisonburg branches.

Information as to this service will be furnished by any agent or by F. L. Word, live stock agent, Atlanta, Ga.

STATE SCHOOLS TEXT BOOKS CALLED LIARS.

Rev. Ambrose Roche of Boston Scores Teachers and Text Books at Catholic Convention.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The action of the women delegates in voting not to organize a national Catholic Woman's union was still a chief topic in the lobbies of the convention hall today. While a lack of financial support is given as the main reason for the action of the women, it is rumored, from good sources that the main topic of the women at the closed meeting yesterday when the negative vote was taken, Archbishop S. G. Messmer's ruling that the women must not discuss the suffrage question. The women's organization was known to have Archbishop Messmer's favorite idea for the last two years and it also was known that he firmly opposed woman suffrage as an element in the proposed league.

Sabbath desecration of all kinds and especially athletic, was severely scored in an address by Reverend Ambrose Roche, of Boston. He said that commercialism made conditions such that the working man had only one day of rest a week and pleaded that a concerted movement be begun by the Catholics of America to bring a national law providing for a Wednesday afternoon holiday for all kinds of laborers. He said that even though Sunday was the only opportunity for the laborer to enjoy himself, he had no right to do so, and that he was proud of the fact that he came from Boston where the Sabbath was kept Holy.

He called the text books of the state schools "liars" and said the teachers were bigotted and prejudiced, and did much to weaken the Catholic faith of the children.

Native Woods at the Asheville Fair. In connection with its efforts to encourage greater development among agricultural, stockraising and other interests in this section, the Western North Carolina Fair association is laying considerably more stress this year than heretofore on the Native Woods department.

W. H. Woodbury, an experienced lumberman of Asheville, is director of the Native Woods department, for which an attractive premium list has been issued in supplementary form, showing that about fifty awards are offered as prizes on the products of Western North Carolina forests. Four premiums of $25 each will be given, two of these covering the sweepstake exhibits of figured or curly woods and dressed or rough lumber. For the most unique, attractive and varied exhibit of sections of logs with bark on, the association offers a prize of $25, which it is believed will result in a splendid display of some of the valuable and gigantic timbers of the mountain forests. Premiums of $1 each are offered for best figured or curly, rough or dressed boards of the principal commercial timbers of Western North Carolina.

The management of the Fair association in emphasizing the importance of this department of the fair and the possibilities of the timber interests, announces that the premium list is submitted with the hope that a more adequate conception and appreciation of the value of the forests of Western North Carolina may be had and that the importance of establishing industries to produce the finished products and utilize a larger percent of the output of the mills may be more forcibly impressed on the minds of the people.

Canada is to be congratulated upon the character of its immigration in the last thirteen years. According to the figures just published by the Canadian minister of the interior about 2,500,000 immigrants have reached the Dominion since July 1, 1910. Of these newcomers by far the greater number have been English-speaking people. The United States contributed a little more than 891,000 and the British Isles sent nearly 874,000. From countries where English is not spoken the immigration all told was about 656,000. This means that the bulk of the immigrants received by Canada have been of the easiest assimilable kind. More than 1,700,000 of the 2,500,000 newcomers spoke the language of the country they entered, and they were used to the institutions they found there.

In the last year the number of immigrants from the British Isles exceeded somewhat the number from this country; the figures were approximately 151,000 and 130,000. Either one of these items is bigger than the number of immigrants from all other countries combined, 112,000. Canada's immigrants are still easy to digest. But the fact that the British immigration exceeded the American immigration is suggestive. It was said more than a year ago that the immigration from this side of the line was falling. —Buffalo Express.

Skirts and Pants.

Why do men wear pants and the women skirts? This is ancient history. In prehistoric times, long before the Pelasgiens occupied Greece, twenty-odd centuries before our era of civilization, it became necessary to make some distinction in the dress of the sexes, which had been up to that time much the same; and it was finally decided to refer the matter to a commission of ten venerables, who solved the problem in the following manner:

An even hundred the youth of both sexes were chosen from the best families, and they were ordered each in turn to march around a circle in a large inclosure. The report of the commission was to the effect that the marching and demeanor of the males was so attractive and perfect that they recommend that each leg should have a separate cover in order that the admirable bearing of man in his movements might be always in full view and unobstructed. I give in full the commission's report on the females:

"Your commission has given careful consideration to the performance of the female contingent and have noted the following particulars thereof: Of the 100, 97 marched with their toes turned inwardly; of these, 10 were affected in the left foot, 37 in the right and 20 in both feet. But three of the lot showed perfection in planting both feet. Each of the 97 imperfections had the heels of their shoes worn on the inside and twisted outwardly corresponding to the defect stated—that is to say, the 40 with the left heel worn and twisted, 37 with the right and 20 with both heels. In this respect no fault is found with the three exceptions whose heels appeared to be in perfect condition. In marching the same result was found in a serious defect, for which we can find no term in describing other than "wobbling." The three exceptions, we are glad to say, were without this defect.

"Considering the painful sight of a wobbling pair of legs with turned-in toes at the extremities for a front view, and the fearful sight of heels worn to one side inwardly and twisted outwardly for a rear view, your commission recommends that women's dress shall conform to a style that all conceal from view both legs and feet."—Baltimore Sun.

Luke McLuke Says.

The honest working girl claims she should receive a man's wages. Well, why doesn't she get married?

Every married woman knocks her husband at home and brags about him in public.

What has become of the old-fashioned girl who used to have her waist-band filled with pins.

Advices from London say the bustle is coming back. For the Love of Mike, where are they going to put them? On their chests?

A strong-minded woman is one who doesn't care whether her hat is on straight or not.

Father always gets mad when a new bartender is hired at his favorite booze bazaar, because Father has to order his drinks just as if he was a perfect stranger.

A woman thinks it is awful for a man to wear black pants when he is wearing white shoes.

A bachelor girl is always an old maid when he back is turned.

A man's idea of a Great Tragedy is to grope all around the bathroom with soap in his eyes and discover there isn't a towel in the place.

If she had ever dreamed that the girls would some day wear silhouet skirts, Nature would have spent more time in perfecting her handiwork.

They are having all sorts of investigations nowadays, but what has become of the old-fashioned woman who held a fine-comb solree every Saturday night?

Heaven must be a place where fishing is really as good as it looks in a summer resort advertisement.

A man isn't necessarily a married man because he carries a lady's umbrella. He may be a star boarder.

Hedges on Wilson.

I think Mr. Wilson is the most adroit and powerful politician who has been in the White House. I don't recall a president who was superior as a political rhetorician. He is as great a phrase-maker as Lincoln, except he strikes no chords of sentiment or deep emotion. Although I am a Republican, I had rather see President Wilson succeed than fail. He is unquestionably an honest man and will be subjected to no money pressure. He will dominate the administration more than Roosevelt did his, but when his term expires he will be less powerful than Roosevelt.—Paris Interview With Job Hedges, of New York.
